WILENTZ
—ATTORNEYS AT LAW—
WILENTZ, GOLDMAN & SPITZER, P.A.

Boston Scientific Spinal Cord Stimulator Lawsuit

Results achieved in prior matters are not meant to be a guarantee of success as the facts and legal circumstances vary from matter to matter.

Boston Scientific cases are the furthest along of the spinal cord stimulator litigation, centralized in a federal MDL since June 2026.

Federal proceeding	MDL No. 3181, In re Boston Scientific Corporation Spinal Cord Stimulator Produc
Court	U.S. District Court, Central District of California (Judge Josephine L. Staton)
Created	June 5, 2026
Pending actions	41 as of October 1, 2026 (per JPML count reported by third parties)
Status	Leadership appointed and early case management under way. No settlement has be

Boston Scientific Devices Commonly Named

The WaveWriter Alpha family and the Precision family of systems, among others.

What Patients Allege

- Leads or components that failed, fractured, or migrated,
- Loss of therapy or painful, unintended stimulation,
- Infections and complications requiring revision or removal surgery, and
- Inadequate warnings about risks and complication rates.

What the MDL Means For You

The MDL is limited to Boston Scientific devices and is not a class action. Each injured patient keeps an individual case, and the value of your case depends on your injuries and records. Reports indicate the court has allowed new cases to be filed directly into the MDL. We will explain the best path for your case.

Injured by a Boston Scientific stimulator?

Tp speak with an attorney about your legal options, call 732-313-2323 for a free consultation. See also our FAQ.

To speak with an attorney about your legal options, please call: 732-313-2323.