

Huffington Post Article: “Why Companies Have Failed to End Sexual Harassment in the Workplace”

03/29/17

The Huffington Post posted an article on March 28th titled “Why Companies Have Failed to End Sexual Harassment in the Workplace.” The article is a good reminder that the best defense is a good offense. In the employment world, that means having appropriate policies and training in place and then following those policies. This is especially true when it comes to anti-harassment, sexual or any protected class.
